

How to Become a Registered Dietitian

- Earn a master's degree from an academic program accredited by the Accreditation Council for Nutrition and Dietetics, accompanied by a verification statement.
- Complete an accredited supervised practice program under the same council.
- Successfully pass the dietetic registration exam administered by the Commission on Dietetic Registration.
- Obtain state licensure, if required by the location of practice.

For more information about these requirements, visit CDR's website.